Anti-Slavery Statement

This statement, made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015, sets out the approach taken by Travel and Transport Statesman to understand all potential modern slavery risks related to its business, and the actions undertaken to mitigate any such risks during the financial year ending 31st December 2018.

Travel and Transport Statesman (TTS) is a provider of Business Travel services with 120 employees across the country and is headquartered in the UK. Our supply chains consists of suppliers of data, airlines, hotel chains, computer software and equipment and office supplies.

Travel and Transport Statesman's Board is committed to delivering high standards of corporate governance and a key element of this is managing the business in a socially responsible way. TTS aims to employ the highest ethical and professional standards and always to comply with all local laws and regulations applicable to our business; it follows that Travel and Transport Statesman is absolutely committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in its corporate activities and its supply chains. This commitment is emphasised in our employee training programmes and company policies. Travel and Transport Statesman also expects the same high standards which we set for ourselves from those parties with whom we engage, such as our suppliers and customers.

Due to the nature of our business and our approach to governance, we assess that there is very low risk of slavery and human trafficking in our business and supply chains. However we aim to periodically review the effectiveness of the relevant policies and procedures that we have in place.

We do not have key performance indicators in relation to slavery or human trafficking as any instance would be expected to be a breach of law, our supplier standards and/or our company policies.
